SPRING CLEAN-UP SET BY COUNCIL

Study made with regard to a State Supplemental Retirement Program for town employees.

A resolution was passed by the Town Council requesting the U. S. Postal Service to consider the establishment of a City Mail Delivery to service people in the Town of Appomattox and adjacent areas in the county. All 547 lock boxes in the present Post Office building are rented at this time.

Council feels that the Ball park is a part of a Community - Wide recreational facility, and is interested in making some improvements to the property. Proposed improvements include repairs to the building, some grading and the building of bleachers.

Town Manager Slagle reported that three building permits have been issued; one to Clover Hill Manufacturing Company for a dwelling on Ethel Street; one to Bennett T. Matthews for a dwelling on Oakleigh Avenue; and one to Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Johnson for a dwelling on Annie Street.

C. S. Booth requested that council give permission to Bill Slagle to replace him as Administrator of the Town Sub-Division Ordinance and the Town Zoning Ordinance. The request was granted.

In other business council authorized Slagle to purchase materials to extend 10 inch water lines down Patricia Ann Lane to Oakleigh Avenue; to purchase materials to make provisions for sewer service to the Thomasville property; and to purchase materials intended to be used to extend sewer service along Sunnydale Avenue.

Red Cross Fund Drive

finance the local chapter's obligations in the Regional Blood Program. But think of the monetary value this program saves residents of Appomattox County. Last year Appomattox County citizens used 331 units of Red Cross blood at no cost to the patient for the blood itself. Had this county not been in the Red Cross Blood Program and this blood obtained from a private collecting agency a minimum of $25.00 per unit this would have cost our citizens $8,275.00

The most important value though is having plenty of safe, tested blood available through the Red Cross blood banks when needed. The American Red Cross is the largest collector of blood from voluntary donors, providing more than half of the nation's blood requirements.

So please contribute generously to the local Red Cross fund drive and help keep these important services for our local citizens.

If you can't donate blood perhaps you can donate the value of one or more units, as funds are needed to continue our participation in the program.

Solicitors of funds are also needed in the final weeks of this campaign and volunteers are asked to contact the Chapter Chairman, William A. Hunter, at the Farmers National Bank.

The Paster Speaks

"PREDESTINATION AND CALLING" Rom. 8:30

We find that those whom God has predestinated to eternal life are called by him to justification. This call of God in reference to his predestination is not the "general call" that goes forth to the masses of humanity but it is an "effectual call". There is a general call of the Gospel that goes forth as we find from Luke 14 which is rejected by men; for all with one consent make excuse. There is another call, however, mentioned in scripture that is always effectual. This is the call mentioned in Rom. 8:30. The great book of God's decrees is closed to man. He has not published a page whereas the actual names of the redeemed are written, but that page of the sacred decree where on their character is recorded is published in his Holy Word.

If you have been effectually called you have received a Holy Calling. Furthermore the effectual call is "a High Calling", according to Phil. 3:13-14. If you have effectually been called your heart has been lifted up and set upon heavenly things. You have been filled with prayer, praise and thanksgiving. From Heb. 3:1 we find that it is also, "a Heavenly Calling." It is a call to Heaven as well as from Heaven. Those who have been effectually called look for a city whose builder and maker is God. "For here we have no continuing city but we seek one to come". According to 1 Pet. 2:9 we learn that those who are thus called are "called out of darkness unto his marvelous light".

Also we are called into fellowship with Jesus Christ according to 1 Corin. 1:9. Do you have fellowship with Christ? Do you converse with him? Do you commune with him? Do you love him? Do you love what He loves and hate what He hates?

The Sunday School Lesson

HERBERT C. BRADSHAW
P. O. Box 1833
Durham, N. C. 27702

Comment on the International Sunday School lesson for March 25, 1973

Topic: God Cares

Scripture: Psalm 103:8-14; Hosea 11:1-9; John 3:16-17; Ephesians 3:1-10

The Lord is merciful and gracious, slow to anger and abounding in steadfast love. Psalm 103:8

Running through the Scriptures, like the recurring theme which gives unity to a musical composition, is the doctrine of the love of God. God's love was demonstrated in the creation of man in the divine image and continued to be demonstrated in His communion with man. But the more revealing demonstration of the divine love appears in God's attitude toward man after his disobedience. For just as parental love shines most brightly and glows most warmly in seeking to reclaim the disobedient and erring child so, the divine love is most gloriously and most beautifully revealed in God's effort to redeem sinful man.

The most convincing evidence that God cares for humanity is to be found in His initiative to redeem man from sin and restore him to the divine family. We need to remember that the central fact in the divine encounter is not that man searches for God but rather that God searches for man. In the human experience, man runs away from God. In sacred literature the classic example is Jonah. In secular literature Francis Thompson has most eloquently described man's effort to run away from God:

"I fled Him, down the nights and down the days;
I fled Him, down the arches of the years;
I fled Him, down the labyrinthine ways
Of my own mind. . . .
I hid from Him . . . ."

Since in disobedience man came to know evil and to know that he had done evil in disobeying God, the direction of man's movement has been away from God. Adam and Eve are pictured as hiding themselves from the presence of God after they had disobeyed Him. Since then, man has chosen in disobedience and rebellion to separate himself from God, as last week's International Sunday School lesson brought out. This week's lesson emphasizes God's loving care for those He has made in His image.

God's love and care find their ultimate expression in the Incarnation of the Son and its purpose. "God so loved the world that he gave his only Son, that whoever believes in him should not perish but have eternal life," so one of the Gospel writers interpreted both the reason for and the purpose of the Incarnation. A contemporary theologian, Dr. John A. Mackay, a former president of Princeton Theological Seminary, once explained that it is not some great imperative, something man must do, but rather a great indicative, something God has done, which makes it possible for man to be redeemed.

To say that man runs away and hides from God does not mean that there is not within him some longing for communion with the Creator and Father. Man's make-up is diverse, and within him are contradictory elements. Man flees God, knowing all the time that his one safe haven is in the divine household made us for Him, paraphrase Augustine, er, and our souls are restless until they find rest in Him. Nevertheless, man tries to escape his responsibility to accept God's invitation to return to His home. While realizing the supreme expression of God's care is found in His gift of a way of redemption, we must not forget that God extends to man in every phase of his living. Every hour draws, he draws in the name of God. It cannot be emphasized that all who come to God and that is why we have He has given.

Applications Being Accepted Now For YMCA Camp

Camp Rochichi, the YMCA's camp for boys and girls 6 - 15, announced today that applications are now being accepted for the counselor-in-training program. The program is open to boys and girls between the ages of 14-16. There will be two five-week periods this summer: June 11-July 14 and July 16-August 18.

"Teenagers need a constructive way to spend their summer vacation," said Carl Manfield, director of the camp, "and we have found this program to be challenging and exciting for them." The activities planned required enough physical skill to make them challenging. For example, after learning to ski, ther eis the challenge of the camp's new ski jump or the slalom course. Activities will include an overnight trip to the beach, a 80-mile canoe trip, etc.

These older campers live in their own cabin. "Taps" is sounded for them later than for other campers. Their evening programs will include study of leadership qualities, discussions of problems facing today's teen-agers and trips to nearby towns for a "night out." Special instructional classes will be offered in life saving, first aid, camperaft, and advanced water skiing. R. Don Floyd, one of the better known authorities on pleasure riding in Virginia will give the CIT's advanced horseback riding lessons. Racing, jumping, jousting, and trail riding are all planned.

The camp is also accepting applications for regular campers. At the present time the camp is a little over half filled for the summer.
